NORTH SKY COMPLETES FINAL INVESTMENT FROM CLEAN GROWTH VI

Minneapolis, MN – North Sky Capital (“North Sky” or “the Firm”), a pioneer in impact investing, is pleased to announce that it has made the final investment from Clean Growth VI (“CG VI” or “the Fund”).

The Firm’s Clean Growth strategy began in 2005 with two primary funds (CG I-II), which were followed by four secondary funds (CG III-VI), including the world’s first impact secondary fund in 2013 (CG III).

“We are pleased with the Fund’s portfolio construction, early liquidity and long-term outlook,” said Scott Barrington, Co-CEO. “CG VI demonstrates our ability to develop attractive liquidity solutions that solve for unique seller, transaction and portfolio dynamics.”

“CG VI provides our investors with a diversified portfolio of attractive and rapidly growing operating companies that are contributing to decarbonization, resource efficiency and improved access to healthcare, education and other critical services,” Tom Jorgensen, Managing Director and Co-Head of the Clean Growth strategy added. “This is our fourth impact secondary fund, and we are grateful for all our LPs and partners who have helped make this a successful strategy that provides a critical liquidity solution for the impact ecosystem.”

Across North Sky’s impact secondary funds, portfolio companies align with the UN SDGs and have collectively avoided, mitigated, reduced or sequestered approximately 38.8 million metric tons of CO₂e, generated approximately 2.8 million megawatt-hours of clean energy, provided care to more than 28 million patients and diverted or recycled over 352,000 tons of waste.
